

TreatmentTalk

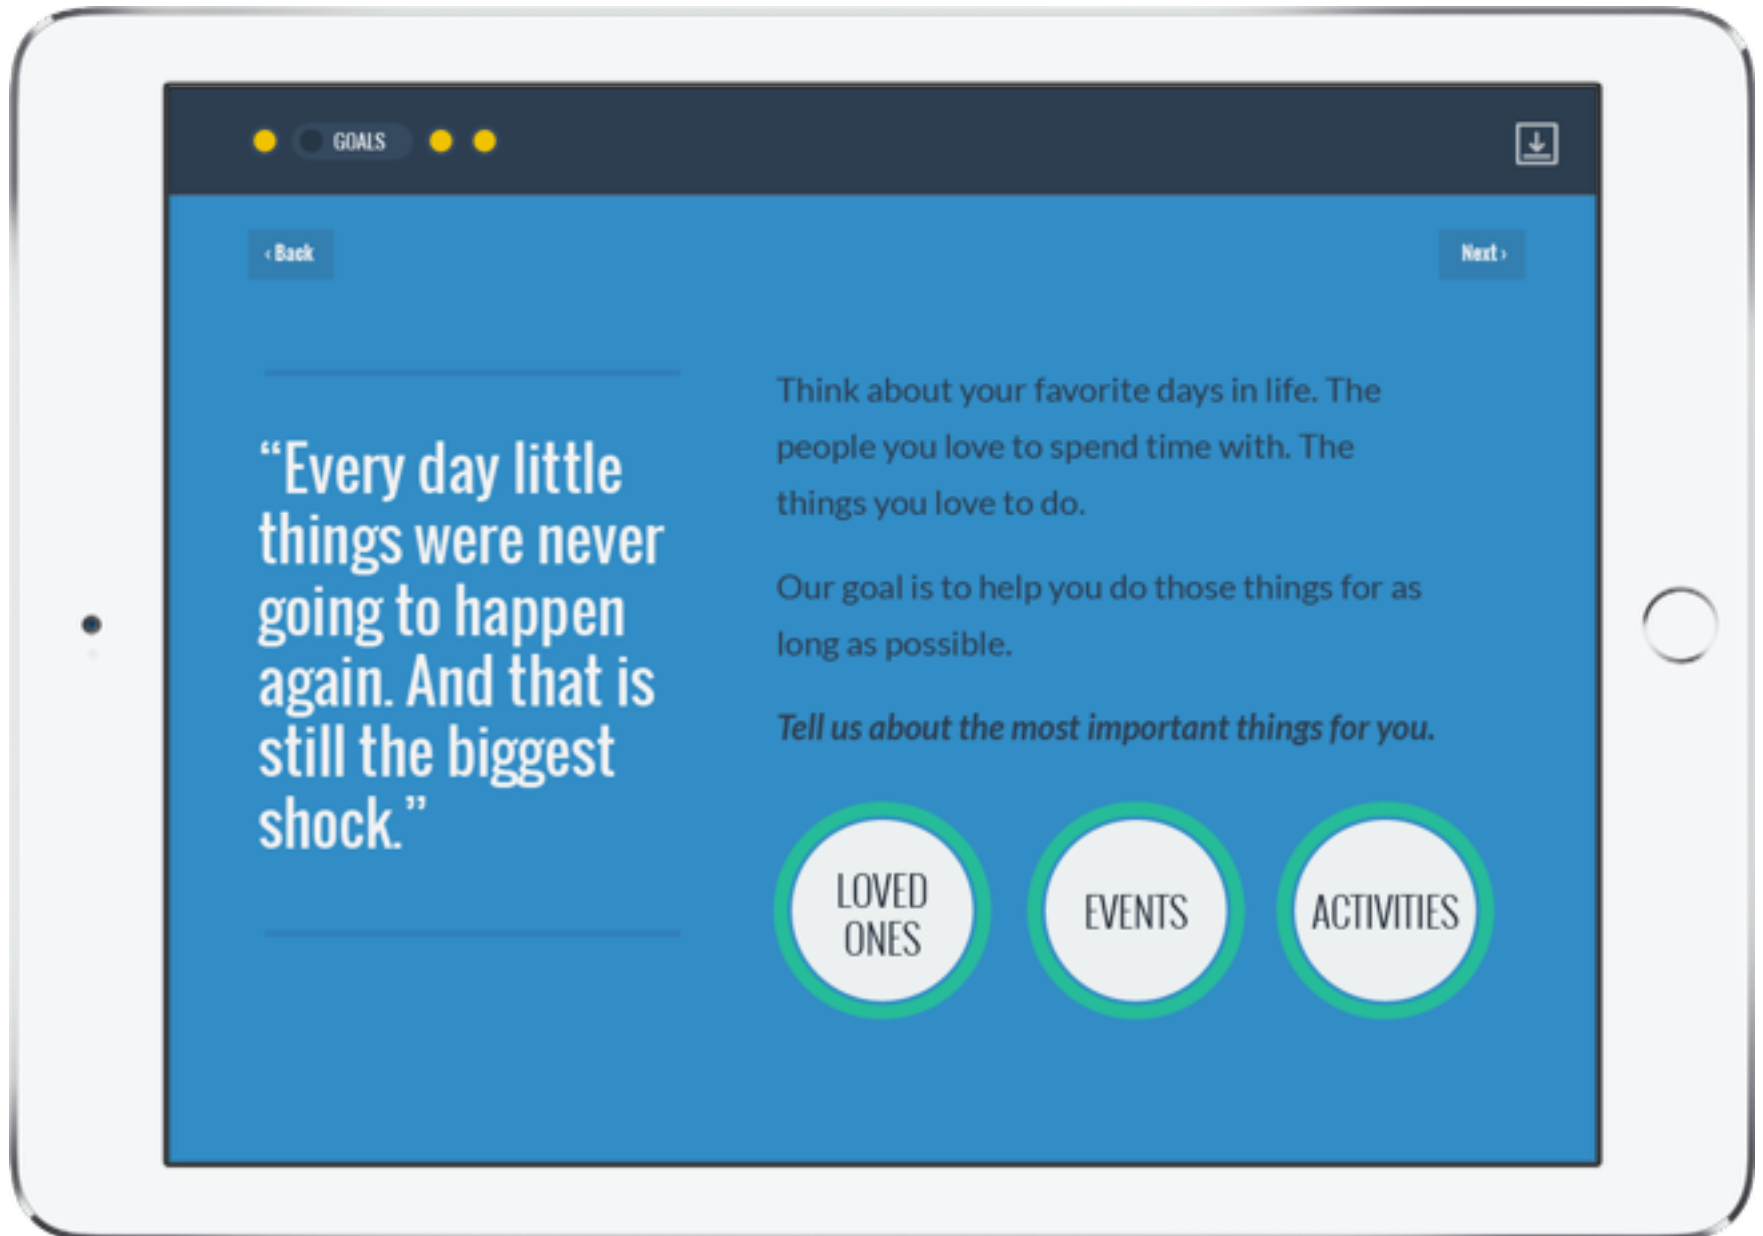

CHCF Decision Aid Upgrade Challenge

Katherine Martinko
Terumi Hayden

The conversation begins by reiterating the diagnosis and what it means. Clinicians are prompted to stop and ask the patient to give feedback on their treatment preferences and level of support team involvement.

Patients, families, and clinicians are then prompted to reflect on & discuss life goals.

Once care preferences and life goals are communicated, the team begins to discuss treatment options.

Each treatment option is explained in terms of what the experience will be like for the patient. Viewing the detailed data on treatment options is optional.

Palliative care is positioned as a treatment option at the same level as Chemotherapy.

TREATMENTS

Back Next

Palliative Care What to Expect

HOW IT WORKS

Your care team will help you find the treatments that help you feel your best.

As time goes on, other team members with special focus areas may join.

Your treatment is flexible and based on your needs and goals. It can start and stop at any time.

Core Team

- Doctor
- Nurse
- Social Worker
- Spiritual Counselor

Additional Team

- Physical Therapist
- Dietician
- Pharmacist
- Breathing Therapists

Possible Therapies

- Pain Medication
- Breathing Techniques
- Meditation
- Music

HOW I'LL FEEL

Palliative care can help at any point. It helps you manage:

- » Pain
- » Breathing problems
- » Feeling sick to your stomach
- » Appetite loss
- » Feeling tired
- » Confusion
- » Depression
- » Anxiety

GET THE NUMBERS

Compare treatments

Data on each line of treatment is accessible from the dropdown. This example shows data for Line One.

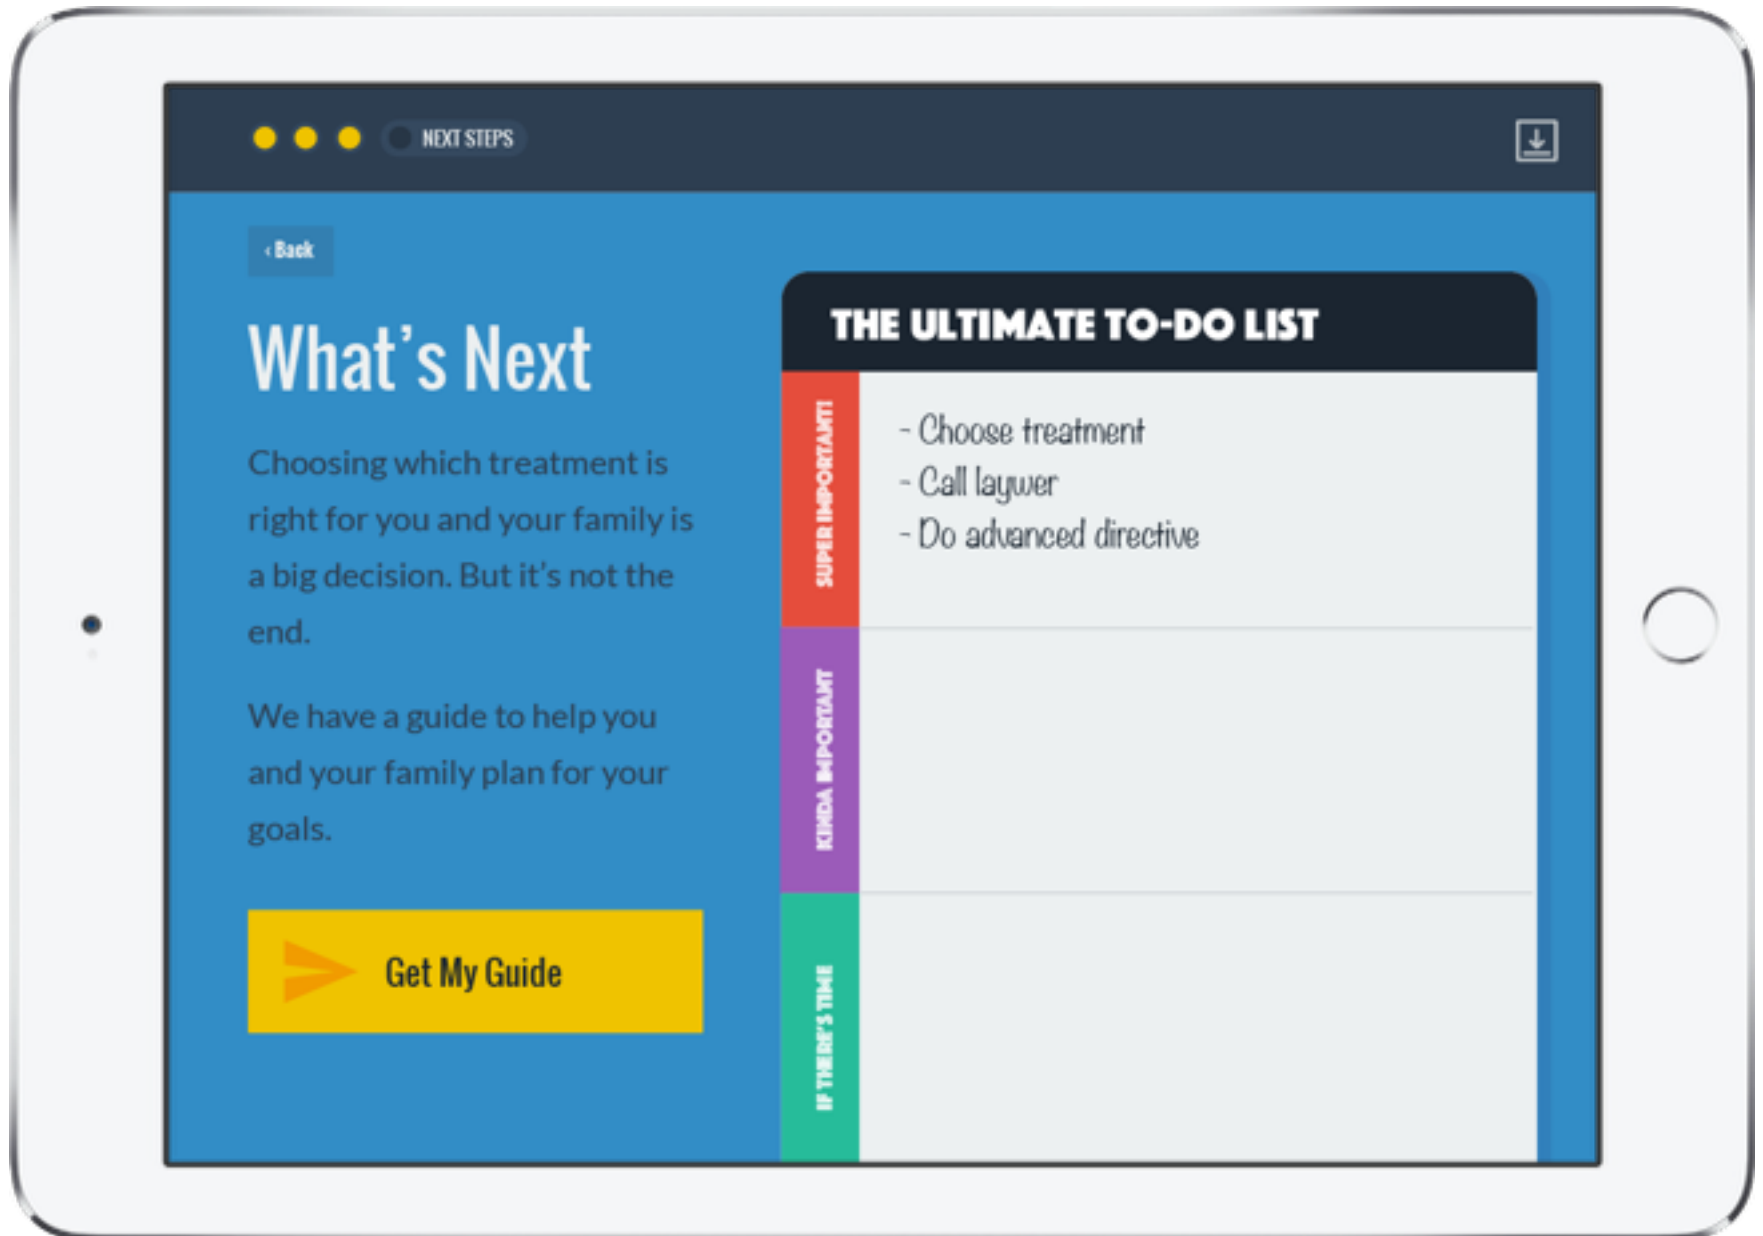

Patients, families, and clinicians can toggle between graphs with the tabs at the top.

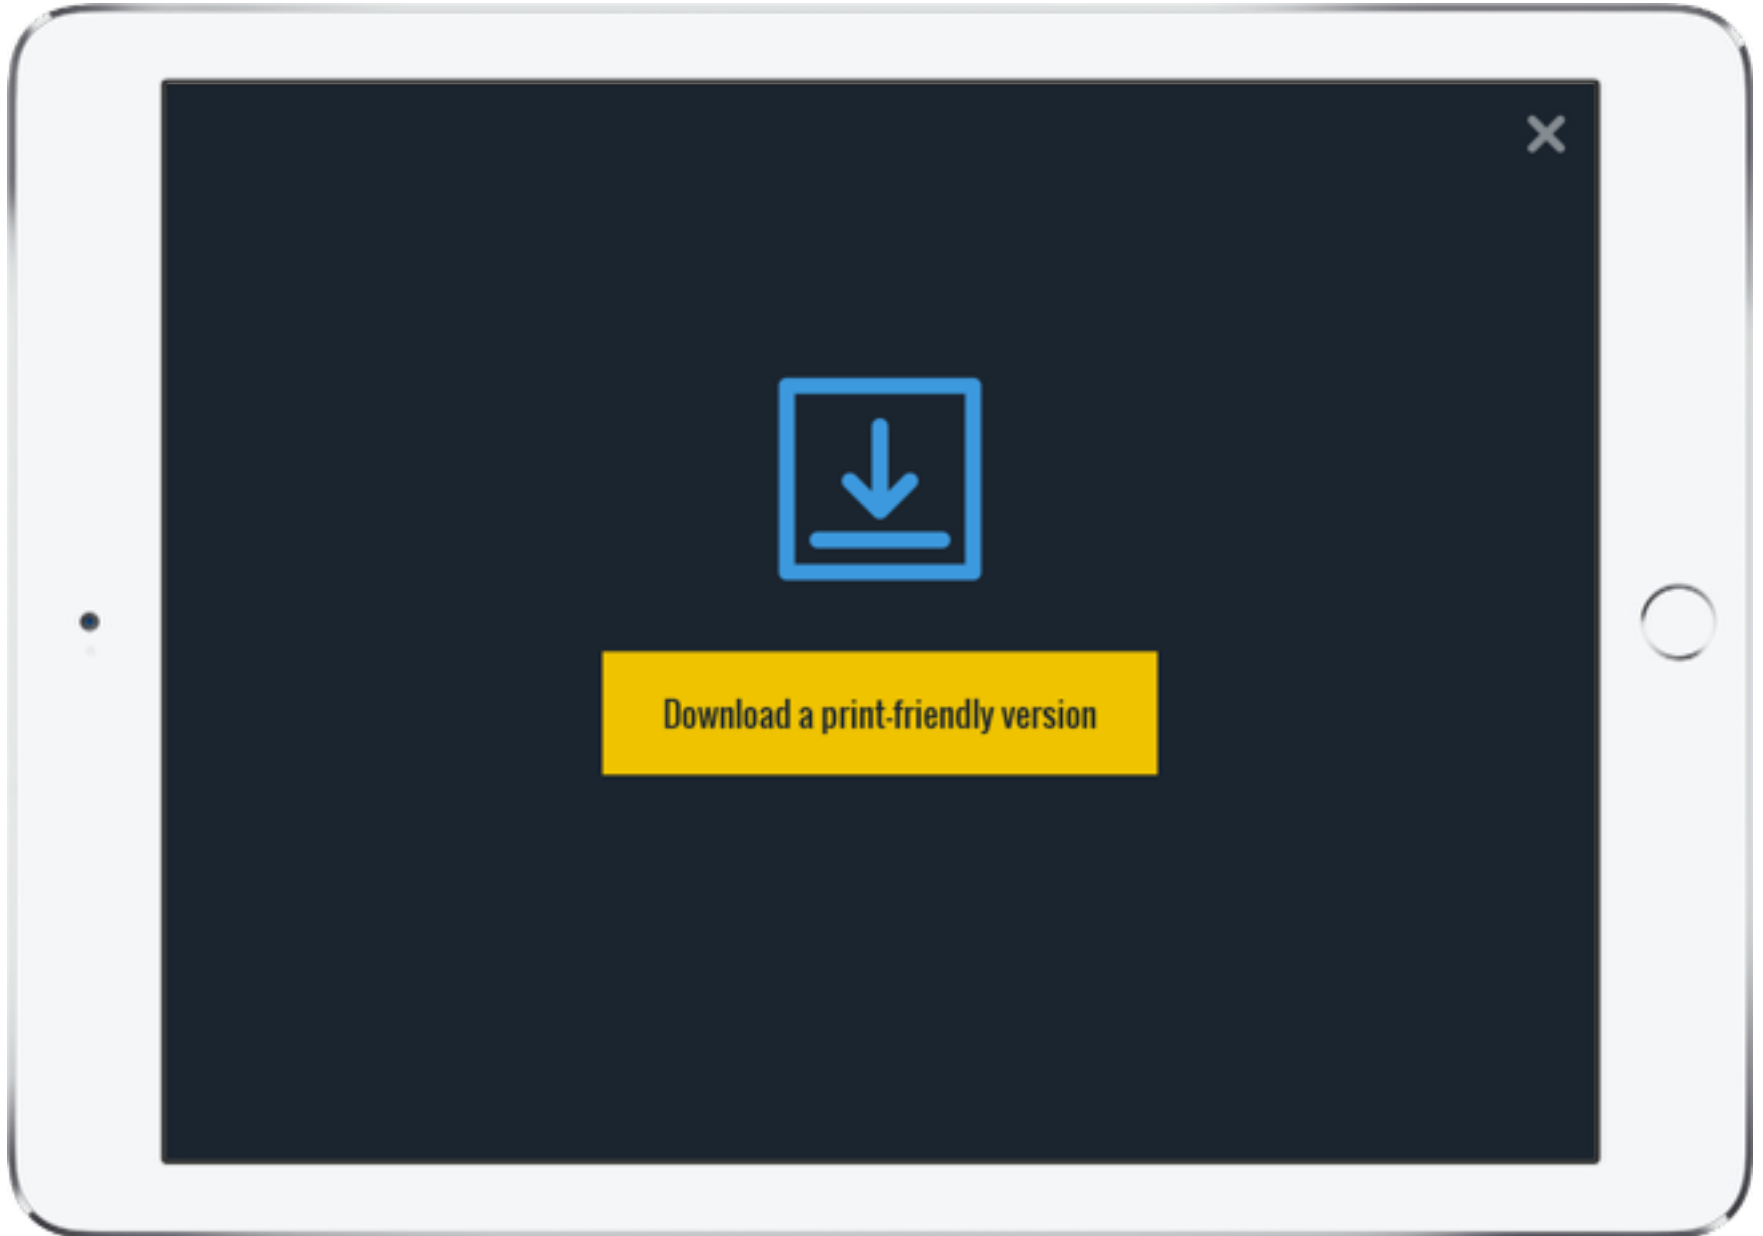

Patients, families, and clinicians can toggle between graphs with the tabs at the top.

The experience wraps up a conversation about next steps and the option to print or send and partially pre-filled to-do list as well as supporting resources.

While this experience is optimized for digital viewing, the option to download a print-friendly version is always available from the top navigation bar. Clinicians are encouraged to print out a packet for each visit so the patient and family has a tangible takeaway.

Thank You.